INFLUENZA

The Condition

Flu or "Grippe" is caused by infection with various strains of a Influenza (and other minor viruses), sporadically in fall and winter, and as epidemics about every 3 years, with global pandemics every 10 years. Symptoms of flu differ from the common cold, having more overall malaise, aching, chills, higher fevers, loss of appetite and lethargy. They are similar in producing discharges, fever, sore throat, swollen glands and potential bronchitis. Additionally, flu can be fatal to the elderly, very young or immune-compromised people, and influenza can have long-term weakening or debilitating effects, even progressing to chronic fatigue syndrome (CFS), fibromyalgia or ME (myalgic encephalomyelitis) symptoms. Most flus last 2-3 days, but different strains and flu epidemics vary widely in their severity and duration. Antibiotics have no effects on viruses, and aspirin should not be used in children with viral infections. Flu vaccines may not always be effective, due to changing strains of virus, and have some serious potential side effects, including paralysis.

Homeopathic Solutions

Homeopathic Influenzinum is a safer, more effective form of flu prevention than the vaccine, or one can take Osdillococcinum, a popular product that can be used as a preventive, or at the first sign of flu. One can also use a remedy that is similar to the symptoms that are going around. By noting the symptoms of several flu sufferers, a general pattern emerges, and a remedy can be discovered that fits most cases of that particular outbreak. Also in different parts of the country (and in different climates and seasons) there are specific flu medicines that are more common. Some remedies have these patterns within their symptom picture: Gelsemium is prominent in spring flus. Dulcamara is sensitive to damp or stormy weather, as well as illness coming on during warm days and cool nights (autumn). Bryonia has problems in winter and spring. Rhus tox is also sensitive to damp, and is worse in fall and especially winter. Eupatorium is another fall remedy. Hayfever, cold and influenza remedies have many symptoms in common, and the remedies for each group can be applied to the others. Also, if symptoms change, a new remedy may be needed.

Dosage

Take the remedy as often as hourly for acute symptoms in a 6, 12 or 30 potency (x or c). With improvement or less intense symptoms, reduce the frequency. During recovery, use once daily for 3 days to prevent recurrence.
