In heavy breeds consider	Calc carb 6c once daily
Where cataracts are also apparent	Naphthaline 6c once daily
Where possible use	Cineraria eye drops in the eye twice daily

Uveitis, moon blindness, iridocyclitis, equine recurrent uveitis

Inflammation of iris, ciliary body and choroid coat of eyeball as a result of trauma or other damage to structures of eye, also from toxins (systemic bacterial infection).

Usually of obscure origin linked to immune system and possible reaction to Onchocherca/leptospiiral infection. Tends to recur, can be triggered by cold weather. Symptoms include acute pain/eye firmly closed/redness, discharge/eyelid spasm/profuse tear production/pupil contraction. Later corneal clouding & white cells collecting in the front of eye, corneal scarring.

Eyes, Ears, Mouth and Head 5

With severe lachrymation (watering) of the eye, intense redness, clouding, lids swollen	Kali iod 30c every 2 or 3 hours
With a yellow discharge, eyelids stuck together, eye very swollen, marked photophobia	Rhus tox 30c every 2 or 3 hours
Pus in the front of the eye, purulent conjunctivitis, lids swollen, extremely sensitive to touch	Hepar sulph 200c 3 times daily
Where trauma is the initiating cause	Arnica 200c, every 4 hours
To aid absorption of debris/pus	Tellurium 30c twice daily

Cataracts

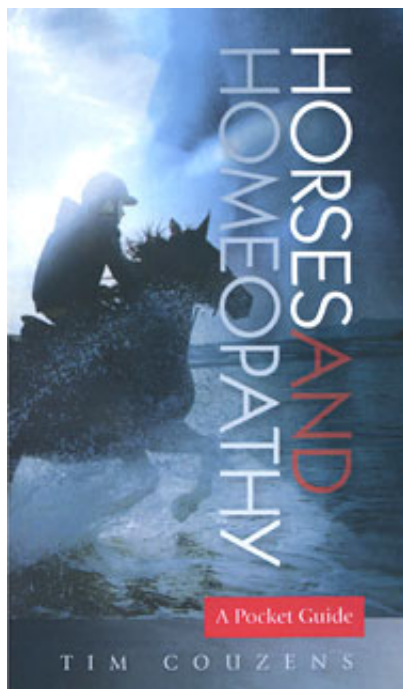

Opacity/clouding of lens which eventually obscures vision. Can occur as result of natural degeneration (ageing), following illness (such as moon blindness) or consequence of trauma. Degeneration may be slowed by appropriate treatment.

Generally	Phosphorus 30c & Calc fluor 30c on alternate days
Following moon blindness or with adhesions to the iris	Silica 30c alternate days

For thirsty lean horses	Nat mur 30c alternate days
