Chapter 1

THEORY OF SUPPRESSION AND PROGRESSION OF DISEASE

In the world of homoeopathy every homoeopath seems to be claiming excellent results, be it with four to five medicines at a time, with multiple repetitions in a day, or single medicine single dose. There are scores of homoeopaths, both non-qualified and qualified (unfortunately), who have been making diseases and symptoms disappear in a patient oblivious of what happened next. All the same, they all seem to vouch for their results. Now the million dollar question is "What is a Result? Let us assess the following case.

What is a Homoeopathic Result?

A Case of girl with chronic asthma :

Miss V. G. Age 19 years had suffered from asthma since childhood. After having been treated homoeopathically for a period of 6 months, she was happy. She had no attack of asthma for 1 year. A year later she came back with a severe relapse. This acute asthmatic attack could not be controlled by her general physician, and she had to be hospitalised. Nevertheless the patient herself and her parents were happy with the homoeopathic result, which had prevented her from getting regular asthmatic attacks.

An intelligent homoeopath is one who assesses his result by quality and not quantity. Absence of an attack for some time should be followed, if at all by milder attacks. This is in keeping with a true homoeopathic result. A homoeopathic medicine cures a patient by decreasing his sensitivity of an allergen, in short reducing the intensity and frequencies of the attacks. Hence a Homoeopath strengthens the patient and weakens the disease. In this above mentioned case there was an evidence of the strengthening of the disease. It goes without saying that one has to encounter symptoms and signs in the patient which shall indicate weakening of the patient as a whole.

What do we mean by weakening of the patient?

Weakening of a patient as a whole mathematically point out to 'Generals' and 'Mentals' deteriorating.

If a patient says during follow-up that he is much better and his chief complaint is almost cured, one should ask him a leading question as to how is his stamina and desire to work. If he says he is feeling weak and has no desire to work or do anything, then, even if his chief complaint, be it pain, fever, or loose motions etc. is much better, we can be sure that there has to be either of the generals i.e. desire for food has lessened or his sleep now-a-days is disturbed, or if both are not disturbed be sure that the stools which were normal before are not proper and he is constipated. Even mentally he might be feeling disturbed or depressed. Such is the mathematical relation between the generals and mentals.

Further interrogations revealed the following facts. The girl who used to study on her own and secure high percentage of marks, had become 'dull' in the last year or so. Her interest in studies had 'waned'. She would feel 'bored' to study and would feel sleepy in her class. Her performance in maths had gone down. Alarming her eyesight had deteriorated over the last year. Her mother complained that this was due to 'her not feeling hungry at all nowadays.' She had disturbed sleep with dangerous dreams. All these were coupled with loss of weight and dark circles increasing around the eyes.

She was also alarmed by sudden and profuse loss of hair over the last few months.

Is this a good or bad result?

In the above mentioned case the patient was 'Cured' of her chronic discomforting disease but at what cost? At the cost of making her old and setting in premature old age at 16 years, with falling hair, weakening of eyesight, loss of stamina, for work and studies, and even loss of interest in studies which she loved before.

We have to remember that our science of Homoeopathy is a 'Holistic' or 'Wholistic' science, wherein we treat the man in disease and NOT disease in man. It is obvious from the above facts that the Disease has disappeared but the MAN'S (patient's) health has not improved but 'has gone to dogs'.

How many of us are aware of the fact that day in and day out, what we claim as cured, may not be real cures, and may be dangerousSuppressions.
