Preface to the 7th Edition

So much has changed since I last revised the 6th edition in 2007 that a 7th edition has become inevitable. The HPV vaccine (marketed as Gardasil in Australia) has been vigorously promoted, the world has been through the first phase of the Swine Flu Pandemic, and most importantly to me, the world has also seen the largest documented use of homeopathic immunisation take place, in Cuba in 2007, 2008, 2009, and 2010.

There has also been a coordinated attack on homeopathy, especially in the United Kingdom, following a meta analysis published in the Lancet in 2005 which led the Editors to announce the death of homeopathy. This work has subsequently been discredited, the credibility of the Lancet as a truly objective scientific journal of reference has been diminished, and the evidence base of homeopathy has been strengthened. However the international pharmaceutical lobby remains powerful due to the extraordinary amounts of money which it spends annually to buy influence. Homeopathy is constantly under attack from "skeptics", although one of the most prominent has recently been shown to have falsified his homeopathic "credentials".

In my own country, economic realities are causing the forward thinkers in the Federal Government to consider ways to reduce the economically crippling health budget, thus promoting the consideration of safe and inexpensive natural options to expensive drugs and even more expensive medical delivery systems.

So the world has changed, and further change is inevitable.

I will leave the Preface to the 6th edition in place as it describes major aspects of the book.

The first major change in this 7th edition relates to layout. I have been asked to make the material simpler. On the other hand, this is a complex topic and people need facts. So I have tried to do both - retain and expand on all the previous detail, but at the same time restructure the book so that readers can begin with a basic summary and then delve deeper if they wish to learn more about a particular point.

This will give readers the option of reading all the material if they wish, or reading the summary and then going straight to the Sections where they want more information, and setting aside the other parts until they are ready. To reduce the bulk of the early reading I have moved descriptions of the characteristics of individual diseases, and individual vaccines into Section 9 which is a new Appendix to Questions 1 and 3.

There have also been changes and extensive reference updates throughout the book, and the following new Sections have been added to the 7th edition:

Overview of the argument and some issues (a simple summary preceding Section 1)

9.1.21	Dengue Fever	9.2.24	Dengue vaccination
9.1.22	Human Papiloma Virus;	9.2.25	HPV vaccination
9.1.23	Leptospirosis;	9.2.26	Leptospirosis vaccination
9.1.24	Rotavirus;	9.2.27	Rotavirus vaccination
9.1.25	Swine Flu;	9.2.28	Swine Flu vaccination

Section 4.2.3: The Cuban experience, which is one of the most important additions to the 7th edition.

Section 3.5.6: Research into vaccine damaged children: This replaces Section 8.4, and has been considerably expanded to include new research which I published in 2008.

Section 5.4: The economics of immunisation options.

But as I sit here contemplating why this book is needed, and why some people will choose to read it and use the information it offers, I keep coming back to the sad but undeniable fact that health authorities and many within the orthodox medical system are, either knowingly or unwittingly, not providing parents of young children with truthful information. People are realising this in the hundreds of thousands and are seeking for truth elsewhere. Pharmaceutical spin has been exposed for what it is. Blind belief is no longer acceptable. "Trust me I'm a doctor" no longer works like it did 50 years ago. We have choices - and this book provides you with the chance to make a choice which will impact on the health of your entire family for the rest of their lives

- may it shine light into a dark place, and bring you peace of mind.
