

Margaret Roy

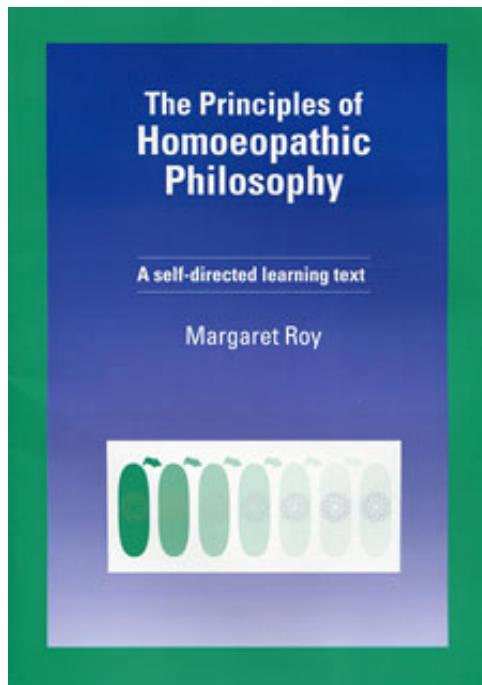

The Principles of Homoeopathic Philosophy

Leseprobe

The Principles of Homoeopathic Philosophy

von Margaret Roy

Herausgeber: Winter Press

<http://www.narayana-verlag.de/b10924>

Im Narayana Webshop finden Sie alle deutschen und englischen Bücher zu Homöopathie, Alternativmedizin und gesunder Lebensweise.

Das Kopieren der Leseproben ist nicht gestattet.

Narayana Verlag GmbH, Blumenplatz 2, D-79400 Kandern

Tel. +49 7626 9749 700

Email info@narayana-verlag.de

<http://www.narayana-verlag.de>

Contents

How to Use this Text Key to 'Activity' Symbols An Introduction to Textbooks

Lesson 1 Introduction to Homoeopathy

What is Homoeopathy?	1
Basic Homoeopathic Principles	1
The Law of Similars	2
The Single Remedy	2
The Single Dose	2
The Minimum Dose	3
Potentization	3
The Law of Cure	4
The Homoeopathic Concept of Disease	5
Vitalism	5
What Happened to the Vital Force?	5
Symptoms Indicate Cure	5
Holistic and Natural Medicine	6
Holistic Medicine	6
Natural Medicine	6
Medicine for the Individual	7
Readings	8

Lesson 2 The Vital Force

The Vital Force	9
Vitalism	9
Integrity of the Whole	10
Symptoms Restore Normal
Functioning	10
Disease: Resistance to Flow	10
The Homoeopathic Theory of Disease	11
One Disease	11
Each Vital Force is Unique	11
Predisposition	11
Vitality	12
Exciting Cause	12
The Maintaining Cause	12
Readings	13
Self-Assessment Questions	13

Lesson 3 Resonance - The Law of Similars

Homoeopathy is the Law of Similars	15
The Dynamic Vital Force	15
Energy Affects Energy	15
Subtle Causes	16
The Law of Similars	16

The Similimum	17
Understanding the Opposite	18
The Total Symptom Picture (TSP)	19
Amelioration and Aggravation	21
The Point of Change or Exciting Cause	21
Readings	22
Self-Assessment Questions	22

Lesson 4 The Symptoms

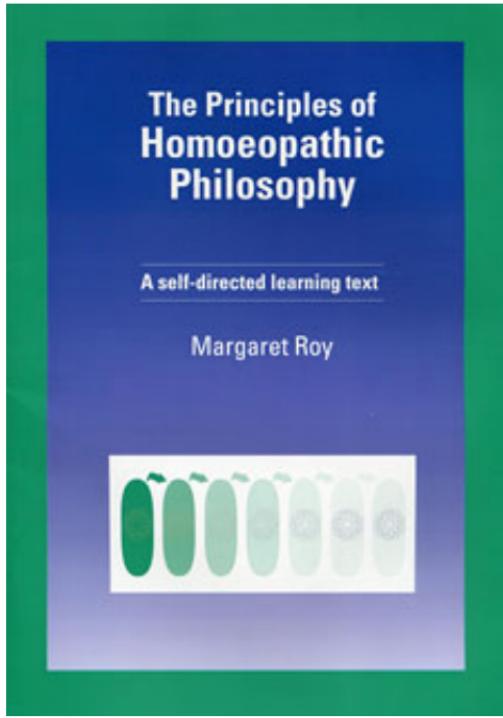

Definition of a Symptom	23
Types of Symptom	23
Presenting Symptoms	24
Prescribing Symptoms	24
Concomitant Symptoms	24
Objective Symptoms	24
Subjective Symptoms	25
Characteristic Symptoms	25
Hierarchy of Symptoms	25
The Hierarchy	26
Strange, Rare and Peculiar (S, R & P)	26
Mental and Emotional	27
General Symptoms	27
Particular Symptoms	28
Common Symptoms	28
How to Construct a Hierarchy	29
Why Was This Order Adopted?	31
A Complete Symptom	31
Time	31
Location	32
Sensation	32
Modality	32
Intensity	33
Grades of Symptom in the Repertory	33
Exercises	34
Readings	34

Lesson 5 The Action of the Medicine

What is a Medicine?	35
Finding the Field of Action of a Medicine	35
The Action of the Medicine on the Vital Force	36

The Self-Limiting Action of a Medicine	37	More Reaction with Low Potencies	60
Susceptibility	38	The Single Dose	61
The Speed of Action of a Medicine	39	A Model of Potency Action Using Sound Waves	62
The Nature of the Medicine	39	A Change in Octave	63
The Vitality of the Vital Force	39	Life Energy Dances Faster or Slower	63
The Nature of the Exciting Cause	39	How Potency Resonates	63
Summary	39	Some Questions Answered	64
Readings	40	Non-reaction to a High Potency	64
Self-Assessment Questions	41	Non-reaction to Low Potencies	64
Lesson 6 The Law of Cure		The Appearance of Proving
A Means of Assessing Treatment	43	Symptoms	64
The Organism as a Self-Perpetuating Mechanism	43	The Optimum Dose	65
The Centrifugal Action of the Vital Force	44	How Do We Select the Potency Needed?	65
Different Types of Change	45	Physical Symptoms: 6th Potency	66
Sensation	45	The General Level and Intense Physical Level: 30th Potency	66
Dysfunction	45	Emotional Turmoil and Violent Acutes: 200th Potency	66
Structural Change	45	The Level of Temperament or Constitutional Treatment: 1M or 10M Potency	66
The Progress of Disease	45	The Lower the Vitality; the Lower the Potency	66
The Law of Cure	46	The Collective Single Dose, The Ascending Collective Dose and the Split Dose	68
From Vital to Less Vital Organs	46	Readings	68
From Within Outwards	46
From Above Downwards	48
In Reverse Order of Appearance	48
Readings	50
Self-Assessment Questions	50
Lesson 7 The Homoeopathic Theory of Disease		Lesson 9 Proving the Remedy
Acute and Chronic Disease	51	Introduction	69
Acute Disease	51	What is a Proving?	70
Chronic Disease	52	Proving a Remedy	70
From Acute to Chronic Disease	53	The Stages of a Proving	70
Miasms	53	Criteria	70
Acute Miasms	55	Preparation	70
Four Types of Acute Disease	55	A Biased Sample	72
Epidemic	55	Exact Recording	72
Sporadic	56	Procedure	73
Endemic	56	The Quality of the Symptoms	73
Contagious	56	Susceptibility	73
Readings	57	The Quality of the Reaction	73
Self-Assessment Questions	57	A Complete Proving	74
Lesson 8 Selecting a Potency		Idiosyncrasy	75
Introduction	59	Readings	75
A Model of Potency Action Using Water	60
Light on a Few Questions	60
The Effect of Multiple Crude Doses	60
Palliation and Suppression	60
Lesson 10 Taking the Case
Introduction	77
The Aim of Case-Taking	77
Accuracy	78
Precision	78
Objectivity	78

The Interview Technique	79	Case Example	105
The Information	79	Raw Data	105
The Questions	81	Prescribing Symptoms	106
Recording the Case	82	What Language Do We Use?	107
Causation	83	The Hierarchy of Symptoms	108
Readings	84	The Repertorization Process	108
Lesson 11 The Repertory		Selecting the Remedy	109
Role of the Repertory	85	Exercises	110
Different Repertories	85	Lesson 14 Case Analysis
The Organization of the Repertory	85	Phatak's Repertory	85	Introduction	113	Kent's Repertory	86	Nine Questions to Guide Case-Taking		The Other Repertories	88	and Analysis	114	Exercises	89	Acute, Chronic or Pseudochronic?	114	Readings	92	Vitality	115	Lesson 12 Repertorization 1		What Has Disturbed the Vital Force?	115	What is Repertorization?	93	What Changed After the Disturbance?	115	Drawbacks to Repertorization	93	To What is the Vital Force Sensitive?	115	Quantitative	93	When is the Vital Force Sensitive?	116	Qualitative	93	Where is the Vital Force Sensitive?	116	The Process of Repertorization	94	Individuality	116	Summary of 1, 2 and 3	95	The Disease Process	116	Selecting Prescribing Symptoms	95	Case Example	117	Mental and Emotional Symptoms	95	Raw Data	117	General Symptoms	96	The Prescribing Symptoms	117	Particular Symptoms	96	The Hierarchy of Symptoms	118	Look up the Materia Medica	96	Analysis	120	Example 1	97	Three Cases to Analyse Yourself	121	The Mental and Emotional Symptoms		97		Generalities	98	Appendix I Hints to Aid Study	127	Analysis	98	// Guidelines on Conducting a Proving; from the Society of Homoeopaths Research Group		Example 2	98	133	S, R & P	98	Dear Prover; reproduced with kind permission of Jeremy Sherr	134	Mental and Emotional	99		Generalities	99	/// Some Model Answers to Activities	135	Particulars	99		Analysis	100	Glossary of Terms	145	Example 3	100	Bibliography	149	S, R & P	101	Index	151	Mental and Emotional	101		General Symptoms	102		Analysis	102		Summary of Practice Points	102		Exercises	103		Lesson 13 Repertorization 2			The Language of the Patient	105		The Words Used	105		The Structure and Function of Language	105
Phatak's Repertory	85	Introduction	113
Kent's Repertory	86	Nine Questions to Guide Case-Taking
The Other Repertories	88	and Analysis	114
Exercises	89	Acute, Chronic or Pseudochronic?	114
Readings	92	Vitality	115
Lesson 12 Repertorization 1		What Has Disturbed the Vital Force?	115
What is Repertorization?	93	What Changed After the Disturbance?	115
Drawbacks to Repertorization	93	To What is the Vital Force Sensitive?	115
Quantitative	93	When is the Vital Force Sensitive?	116
Qualitative	93	Where is the Vital Force Sensitive?	116
The Process of Repertorization	94	Individuality	116
Summary of 1, 2 and 3	95	The Disease Process	116
Selecting Prescribing Symptoms	95	Case Example	117
Mental and Emotional Symptoms	95	Raw Data	117
General Symptoms	96	The Prescribing Symptoms	117
Particular Symptoms	96	The Hierarchy of Symptoms	118
Look up the Materia Medica	96	Analysis	120
Example 1	97	Three Cases to Analyse Yourself	121
The Mental and Emotional Symptoms		97
Generalities	98	Appendix I Hints to Aid Study	127
Analysis	98	// Guidelines on Conducting a Proving; from the Society of Homoeopaths Research Group
Example 2	98	133
S, R & P	98	Dear Prover; reproduced with kind permission of Jeremy Sherr	134
Mental and Emotional	99
Generalities	99	/// Some Model Answers to Activities	135
Particulars	99
Analysis	100	Glossary of Terms	145
Example 3	100	Bibliography	149
S, R & P	101	Index	151
Mental and Emotional	101
General Symptoms	102
Analysis	102
Summary of Practice Points	102
Exercises	103
Lesson 13 Repertorization 2
The Language of the Patient	105
The Words Used	105
The Structure and Function of Language	105

Margaret Roy

The Principles of Homoeopathic Philosophy

A self-directed learning text

164 Seiten, paperback
erschienen 2009

bestellen

Mehr Bücher zu Homöopathie, Alternativmedizin und gesunder Lebensweise www.narayana-verlag.de